The Campbell mines are counted as ing. about the best of their kind in the state of Nevada. They have been very productive in years gone by, and only that they were remote from the markets they would probably have continued in active operation. That the mines are considered very valuable can be understood when it is known that after Mr. Campbell's death the appraised value placed upon them was $200,000. It will be good news to hear that a strong combination has secured them and that they will be actively operated

The resumption of heavy production means that the mine force has been recruired up to normal again, or that it vill be during the next few hours, so there will be no small amount of rejoicing at camp, where it had been feared that operations would continue under reefed sails for an indefinite pe-

The United States company has been a steady purchaser of lead-silver ores for some time past, and it is under-stood also that some very good longtime contracts have been made with producers. The company will also be in shape to send out a good tonnage from its own mines at Bingham, and when the lead furnaces go into commis sion about the first of the year good revenues should be derived from that branch of the company's smelting business.

The exact benefits to accrue to Union Pacific were not very obvious. Although the injunction against the payment of dividends on Northern Securities stock, which forms the collateral for these bonds, makes the payment of interest a burden on Union Pacific, heavy capital requirements would have to be met to retire them, and the release of Northern Securities stock would be the only advantage perceptible. But it was assumed in spite of the emphatic official disclaimers, that a settlement of the Northern Securities dispute and a community of interest in the trans-continental railroad world was involved. The buoyant rise in St. Paul was regarded as corroborative of this assumption.

The market was subjected to enormous profit-taking throughout the day, and the result was constant irregularity and occasional weakness. The engagement of gold for export increased the burden of selling, but the confidence in the market did not seem to be impaired at once by these developments, and ingenuity was taxed to pick out new points for aggressive buying. The profit-taking in the low priced stocks which were most conspicuous for yesterday's market was very by shorts, who bought freely on smallness of the primary movement, and on reports of wet weather in the Canadian northwest. In the upturn December sold at 1.16 and May at 1.14% @1.14%. A radical change in sentiment was expected late in the day as the result of bearish advices from the northwest, where a heavy decrease in flour trade was reported. A rumor was circulated that Minneapoils mills would be compelled to shut down owing to the slackened demand for flour. Sales of large quantities of wheat by houses with northwest connections seemed to give additional weight to depressing reports. Before the decline was checked, December dropped to F.14% and May to 1.134.91.13%. The market closed extremely weak with December at 1.14%. Final quotations on May were at 1.13%. Sentiment in the corn pit early in the day was a triffe easier. The close was firm. December closed up a shade at 28%.

Provisions were weak under the in-"ALL HANDS DOWN" AT THE CLOSE.
